

Dr. Natasha Browne C Psych

Dr. Natasha Browne is a Registered Psychologist with the College of Psychologists of Ontario and the past Chair of the Board of Directors at Women's Health in Women's Hands, a Community Health Centre for black women and women of colour in Toronto. Dr. Browne is a member of the Ontario Psychological Association (OPA), Canadian Psychological Association (CPA) and the American Psychological Association (APA). She was the OPA's diversity delegate representative at the APA State Leadership Conference in Washington D.C. in 2011 and is the past Chair of the OPA Diversity Task Force whose aim is to raise awareness of the importance of diversity and to promote ongoing efforts to influence social change in the field of psychology practice in Ontario. She is also a past board member of the Ontario Psychological Association. Dr. Browne is a past faculty member with the Adler Graduate Professional School and is a trainer with the Bridge Training program for internationally trained mental health professionals and TAPE Educational services which provides professional development programs for clinical teams at healthcare centres and human service organizations. Dr. Browne is also a guest facilitator/trainer with CAMH in topics such as culturally adapting cognitive behavioural therapy for the English speaking Caribbean community and Motivational Interviewing. Dr. Browne operates a general private practice (Browne Psychology Professional Corporation) providing assessment, individual and group psychotherapy, corporate consultation, research, supervision and training services to clients from diverse ethno-racial backgrounds, gender and socio-economic backgrounds. She has worked with clients in diverse settings including community health centres, general hospitals, social service agencies, halfway houses and community colleges.